

Proceeding Jan02 Overview

1st European Samueli Symposium
Future Directions and Current Issues of Research in Homeopathy
January 17-19, 2002

Sponsors

Samueli Institute

Purpose & Focus

The Samueli Institute, under the leadership of Harald Walach, director of the European Samueli Institute Office, sponsored a meeting of homeopathic researchers from Great Britain, Europe, Scandinavia and Israel January 17-19, 2002. Twenty-six published, scientific investigators from nine countries attended. Participants reviewed the current state of homeopathy research related to physical measures, laboratory research, clinical studies, outcomes and practice-based studies and current theories and models to explain homeopathic effects. The group had frank and extensive discussions about the quality of the current data, the implications of recent studies (which have been both positive and negative) and strategies for the advancement of science in homeopathy.

Audience

Basic and clinical research scientists, clinicians, health providers, government officials involved in research policy.

Outcome

9 papers from the conference were published as a Samueli Institute Proceedings in August 2002.

Table of Contents

FOREWORD FROM THE ORGANIZERS

Harald Walach
Rainer Schneider

BASIC RESEARCH EFFORTS TO ELUCIDATE THE POTENTIATION PROCEDURE OF HOMEOPATHY

Stephan Baumgartner

OSCILLATORY EFFECTS IN A HOMEOPATHIC CLINICAL TRIAL: AN EXPLANATION USING COMPLEXITY THEORY, AND IMPLICATIONS FOR CLINICAL PRACTICE

Michael E. Hyland
George T. Lewith

A CRITICAL OVERVIEW OF HOMEOPATHY

Wayne B. Jonas
Ted J. Katpchuk
Klaus Linde

HOMEOPATHY AND THE ACTION OF MEANING THE MODEL OF PRAGMATIC INFORMATION (MPI) AND HOMEOPATHY

Walter von Lucadou

SOME CRITICAL POINTS ABOUT RESEARCH IN HOMEOPATHY. ON SOME PAPERS EDITED OVER THE PAST 20 YEARS (1982–2002)

Bernard Poitevin

A RANDOMIZED, PLACEBO CONTROLLED DOUBLE-BLIND STUDY TESTING THE EFFECTIVENESS OF CLASSICAL HOMEOPATHIC THERAPY OF ATOPIC DERMITIS (AD)

Joachim Siebenwirth

A NEW AVENUE TO HEALING: MOLECULAR BIOLOGY OF THE HOMEOPATHIC SIMILAR PRINCIPLE

Roeland van Wijk

WHAT HAPPENS IN HOMEOPATHIC REMEDY PROVINGS? RESULTS FROM A DOUBLE-BLIND CROSSOVER STUDY OF BELLADONNA 30CH AND AN ANALYSIS BY GRADE OF MEMBERSHIP (GOM)

Harald Walach

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT OF PREMENSTRUAL SYNDROME BY CLASSICAL HOMEOPATHY

M. Yakir

S. Kreitler

A. Brzezinski

G. Vithoukas

Z. Bentwich

Contributing Authors

Stephan Baumgartner

University of Bern/KIKOM

Zvi Bentwich

AIDS and Clinical Immunology Center

Kaplan Medical Center

Hebrew University Hadassah Medical Center

Amnon Brzezinski

Department of Obstetric and Gynecology

Hadassah University Hospital

Ronald A Chez

Samueli Institute

Michael E. Hyland

Department of Psychology

University of Plymouth

Drake Circus

Plymouth, United Kingdom

Wayne B Jonas

Samueli Institute

Ted J Kaptchuk

Center for Alternative Medicine Research

and Education
Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
Harvard Medical School

George T. Lewith
Complementary Research Unit
University of Southampton
Royal South Hants Hospital

Klaus Linde
Department Internal Medicine II
Centre for Complementary Medicine
Research

Shulamit Kreitler
Department of Psychology
Tel Aviv University

Bernard Poitevin
Associatoin Francaise pour la Recherche
en Homeopathie

Rainer Schneider
Institut für Umweltmedizin und
Krankenhaushygiene
Universitätsklinikum Freiburg

Joachim Siebenwirth
Humplgaßl 21

Roeland van Wijk
Department of Molecular Cell Biology
Utrecht University

Walter von Lucadou
Parapsychologische Beratungsstelle

Harald Walach
Institut für Umweltmedizin und
Krankenhaushygiene
Universitätsklinikum Freiburg

Michal Yakir
Ruth Ben Ari Institute of Clinical Immunology and AIDS Center
Kaplan Hospital
Hebrew University Hadassah Medical School

Back to Publications List¹

1. daisy:39-SIIB (Publications)